What we do at

Home-Start Monmouthshire

Home-Start Monmouthshire supports families who have at least one child under the age of five, at key points of difficulty, crisis or transition in their lives. The support is given by volunteers who visit families in their homes each week. They provide non judgemental practical and emotional support.

The aim of our work is to empower parents and carers, improve their confidence in their own parenting skills, and enable them to provide a safe, stimulating, happy and secure environment for their children. We provide support that helps prevent family breakdown and keep children and parents together.

The service in Monmouthshire

Home-Start Monmouthshire has a very small team of 4 paid staff and approximately 40 volunteers who typically give 2 hours a week of their time supporting families.

What families think of Home-Start Monmouthshire
